1) PICK A BAG MATERIAL

Low Density LDPE

The most common poly material used in bags. This material has a softer feel than High Density and offers greater tensile strength, clarity and flexibility.

High Density HDPE

Is twice as strong as Low Density poly and feels stiff in comparison with little stretchability. This unique material allows bags to be produced with either a translucent (frosty) appearance or a solid opaque look.

Consider adding our oxo-biodegradable option.
